

Performance Management

Transform performance reviews into a centralised, streamlined activity that's simpler and more productive for everyone.

Get more from performance

Cezanne HR's integrated Performance module lets you manage your complete performance review cycle in a single, online system.

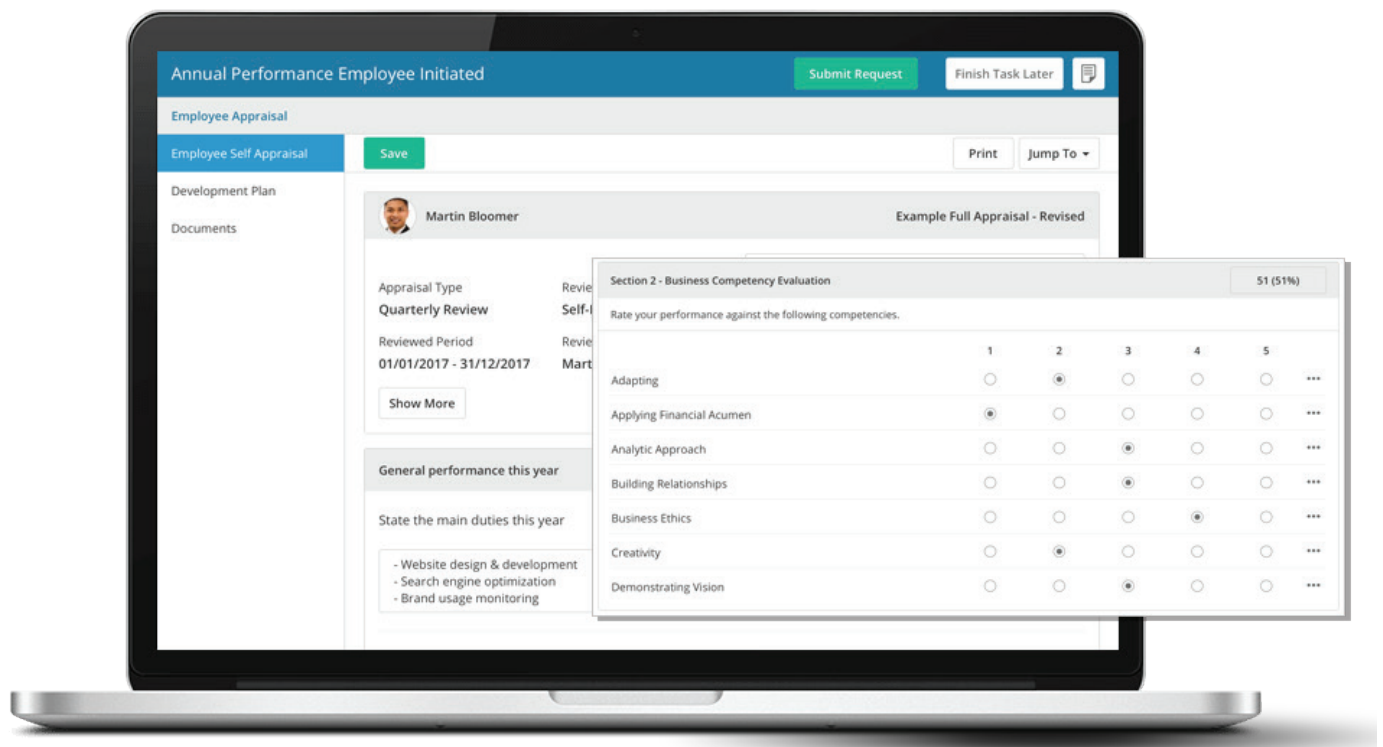

Designed with flexibility at its core, Performance cuts administrative overheads, improves visibility and helps encourage a more consistent focus on achieving performance and development objectives.

Configure to fit

Since performance reviews rarely stand still, Cezanne HR's Performance module gives you the freedom to build - and amend - your own reviews. You'll be able to set up different forms and processes for different groups of employees, and take advantage of the system's international capabilities to streamline performance management across a distributed or global workforce.

For example, you'll be able to:

- Set objectives, such as SMART goals, at both a company and individual employee level
- Assess skills and competencies, to help with development planning
- Support Behaviourally Anchored Rating Scales (BARS) to help focus on the behaviours that are important to your organisation
- Set up multi-part forms, with different sections and answer/question types, perhaps to combine check-box answers with multiple choice or free text
- Make benchmarking simpler, for example, by making questions mandatory, using multiple choice answers, and applying scoring (numeric, descriptive, percentage)
- Permit managers and employees to add their own objectives, or nominate reviewers for 360/ multi-rater stages
- Apply weighting in order to reflect the relative importance of skills against roles

- Record development needs so you can easily see and plan for appropriate company-wide activities
- Capture managers' compensation recommendations to help with salary reviews
- Support different frequencies, for example, to manage an annual process, or trigger more frequent reviews
- Route reviews through different processes, from a simple employee / line manager review to a multi-step, multi-participant cycle, including multi-rater/360

Benefit from automation

Once you have your performance forms set up and participants identified, the system takes care of the rest, sending out the right information to the right people at the right time.

Administration overheads are dramatically reduced, reviews are more likely to be completed on time and everyone benefits from better visibility over goals and achievements.

Simplify completion

On-screen help and clear layouts help guide participants through the online forms, which can be as short - or as comprehensive - as you want.

As each person finishes their part of the process, the system automatically triggers an email to notify the next person, or people, in line.

Improve the conversation

Since Performance is part of a complete HR suite, employees and their reviewing managers can be given access to related information, such as absence records, career history or training and development activities, as well as previous performance reviews.

It helps ensure that everyone is working with the same information, and conversations are as informed as possible.

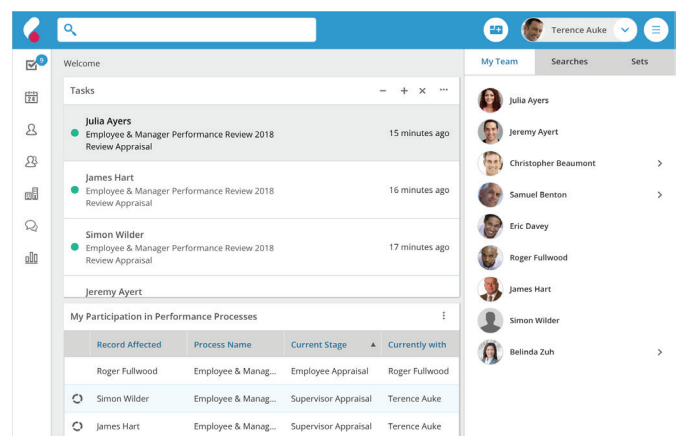

Gain insight

With everything in a single system, it's both easier to stay on top of the process and get more value from the data you gather.

You can monitor completion, look back at past reviews and easily check development needs, compensation recommendations, performance, potential and much more, so that you can make better-informed decisions faster.

Gain greater insight with inbuilt queries and HR dashboards

Let managers and employees easily see outstanding tasks
